

American Express Corporate Charge Card Program

Corporate Charge Card — The American Express corporate charge card is provided to all active personnel who incur business expenses on behalf of Deloitte.

Use of the American Express Corporate Card — The American Express corporate card is limited to business-related expenses only and is not to be used for personal expenses. The American Express corporate card must be used wherever it is accepted for business expenses.

Direct Pay — Deloitte participates in the American Express Direct Pay program. Direct Pay is where American Express is directly paid on your behalf for all business charges submitted by using the mandatory "Import Corporate Card Charges" feature in DTE (Deloitte's Time & Expense system).

Payment Responsibility — You are individually responsible for ensuring that your account is paid in full and on time each month no later than the Closing Date of the second billing statement, which is approximately 30 days from the statement close date. This requires both timely submission of expenses into DTE and payment to American Express for any items that are not imported.

Delinquencies on the corporate charge card will not be tolerated and may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination. Delinquency charges and late fees associated with the corporate charge card are not reimbursable.

American Express Is Paperless — When you receive your card, you must enroll in American Express Manage Your Card Account (MYCA) to receive online statements and to review your account online. Instructions will be provided with the insert that will arrive with your card.

Quick Payment Methods — Payments by US mail can take up to ten days to post to your account. Quick payment methods are phone and Internet payments which post within 24 to 48 hours. To pay by phone, please call 1-800-472-9297.
